The way of faith

By WILLIAM L. TRIMYER
THE WAY OF FAITH
Lesson for September 9, 1984
Bible Study Passages: Romans 1:1, 8-17

INTRODUCTION

I have sometimes suggested that Christians should be like E. F. Hutton, that is, when we speak, people listen! And we do have something to talk about. God has graced us with a Gospel of good news to all who are broken or who have lost their way. And we have a responsibility to share this Gospel in our daily words and deeds.

Jesus said to us in his Great Commission:

I want every friend I have to be a talker, not simply the preacher; but every friend of mine should talk for me everywhere. And I will always be with you.

Paul was a great "talker" for Christ. He was also a greater writer for our Lord. We are indebted to Paul for the bulk of the New Testament excluding the Gospels. Paul took time to write out his beliefs and experiences with Christ. We, too, may benefit from writing down our pilgrimage with Christ. What a nice gift to leave our children!

PAUL'S MESSAGE AND MISSION [Romans 1:1-7]

Paul always referred to himself as a slave to Jesus Christ. This meant he was committed to proclaiming the Good News with his life and energies. He always kept before him and his audience the fact that he was divinely appointed. He was an apostle for Jesus, that is, a messenger.

Paul's theme throughout his writings center on Jesus Christ as the Son of God. Paul always affirms Christ's pre-eminence and his secondary role. Paul always took a backseat to Christ in his proclamation of the Gospel.

The apostle always wished only the best for his readers. He wished for them the grace and peace of Jesus Christ in their daily walk.

PAUL'S PRAISE FOR BELIEVERS [Romans 1:8-15]

The apostle never failed to affirm those who proclaimed their belief in Christ. He constantly affirmed them and encouraged them to hold fast their faith in Christ.

The Christians in Rome faced enormous adverse pressures for their ties to the Christian Way. Although Paul did not found the church in Rome, he heard of their zealous efforts to live their faith throughout his mission tours. Even though he did not go to Rome (so far as we know), Paul kept in touch with his correspondence. He encourages them on in the faith.

PAUL'S PERSONAL COMMITMENT [Romans 1:16-17]

Verses 16 and 17 are well-known by Christians. Many sermons have been preached on these verses to encourage Christians never to be ashamed of the Gospel. We may wonder how it is that anyone could be ashamed of God's love of us through Christ. Paul came down hard on those who would forsake the truths of the Gospel and deny it's power.

Paul testified to the power of the Gospel in his own life. He confessed how he persecuted the church until Christ called him to be a servant.

These verses reveal the profound essence of the Gospel, namely, that God can accomplish what we cannot accomplish alone. We are made acceptable by the grace of God through the cross. Paul closes by saying that "The just shall live by faith." It is sheer belief that saves us, not works or good behavior.

1. Take a moment to write out a statement of your faith.

2. If you were going to write a friend about your experience with Christ, what would you say?

3. Name some ways the Christian's behavior might reflect shame towards the Gospel.

Kirch visits members of Catholic families

During the month of August, the Rev. Richard Kirch, pastor of Our Lady of Peace Catholic Church, began visiting the homes of all members of the local church.

Catholics who are not attending church on a regular basis and anyone interested in learning more about the Catholic tradition are included in these visits. The purpose of the visits is to listen and respond to questions about the church.

"The Universal Church embraces many types of worship and responses to God and it is the diversity of background that needs to be identified since most local Catholics come from other areas," said Jim Collins, member of the church.

Each Sunday a different gospel reading focuses upon another aspect of the call of Jesus. Recently the reading was Matthew 16: 13-20 where Jesus asks of Peter "Who do you say that I am?" and Simon Peter answered, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God."

"The pastoral visits are an opportunity for individuals, wherever they may be on their journey of faith, to help the Rev. Kirch understand how best to minister in Appomattox. Each Catholic Christian, sometime on his journey must, in his own heart, respond to the question Jesus asked, "Who do you say that I am?" The home visitation follows the gospel directive of going two by two. The Pastor is accompanied by another member of the parish community," said Collins.

"The vision is that the community will better understand one another's background and move forward, understanding the worship needs of one another, yet together responding to Jesus, "You are the Christ, the son of the living God," Collins added.

Anyone wishing to have the pastor and members visit this year who may not be on the parish list, may send a note to the Rev. Richard Kirch, P. O. Box 11, Appomattox, VA 24522. Include phone number and address.

Regular services are held at 11:30 a.m. Sunday and weekday Mass at 12:15 p.m. Friday at the church building located just off Route 24 on Route 627.

At St. Luke

Homecoming day noted

The congregation at St. Luke Baptist Church observed their annual homecoming day on Aug. 5.

The Rev. R. R. Jones presided over the morning service, and the Young Adult Choir provided soul-stirring music.

A large group attended and enjoyed the service, and a bountiful dinner was served in the dining area of the church after the service.

The Rev. Donald Johnson, from the Court Street Baptist Church in Lynchburg, was guest speaker for the evening service.

Revival services, held the following week, were led by the Rev. Charles Franklin, from the Ray of Hope Baptist Church in Baltimore, Md.

The regular worship service was held Aug. 19 at 11 a.m., with the Rev. R. R. Jones presiding. The Young Adult Choir provided music.

Mrs. Louise Canada and her son, Samuel attended homecoming services at Pilor Mountain Baptist Church Aug. 19.

Recently, Mrs. Louise Canada attended the Ladies Day session of the Cornerstone Baptist Association at Peaceful Baptist Church, the Rev. Hyman Payne, pastor.

Miss Ogie Hancock, one of the oldest members of St. Luke Baptist Church, passed away in July.

We pray for the sick and the shut-in everywhere.

Promise Land news

"Be sure you are right, then keep on going. In other words keep on keeping on."

The Promise Land Sunday School will sponsor a trip to Busch Gardens on Saturday, Sept. 8. The price of the trip (including admission to the park, and bus transportation) is $15. The bus will leave Promise Land Church at 7 a.m. All persons interested in going should call 352-2254, or see Jacquetta Pettigrew.

We extend an invitation to you to worship with us on Sunday, Sept. 9 for the 10 a.m. Sunday School service and the 11 a.m. worship service.

The Cornerstone Baptist Union will meet at Promise Land on Sept. 30 (Fifth Sunday).

We would like to thank each and everyone for making our Homecoming and Revival a God-filled and successful event.

Let us remember the sick and shut-in our deed's and prayers.
